Stop FGM in county

BY LAWRENCE JOHN
lawrence.john@hpnorthants.co.uk

A campaign to raise awareness of Female Genital Mutilation (FGM) has warned it is child abuse and illegal after 30 cases were discovered at Northampton Hospital.

This multi-agency campaign is being funded by Northamptonshire Police and timed to coincide with the run-up to the summer holidays, when children may be at a higher risk of being taken abroad to have FGM carried out.

Assistant Chief

Constable of Northants Police, Rachel Swann, said: "FGM is illegal in the UK and carries a maximum sentence of 14 years imprisonment.

"A new mandatory reporting duty for FGM requires regulated health and social care professionals and teachers to report known cases of FGM in girls under 18 to the police."

A Stunning Difference That You Can See And Feel

Before

Problem

The conservatory was too cold in the winter, meaning it has to be locked up over the cold months.

The conservatory was far too hot in the summer, making it impossible to stay in for more than a few minutes.

Heavy rain hitting the old panels caused unbearably loud noises during rainy weather spells.

On sunny days the sunlight would break through the thin panels, causing bright glare on the screens of electronic devices.

Mould and mildew had formed on the panels near the roof beams, needing to be regularly removed to avoid an unsightly view.

After

Solved

The conservatory now stays the same temperature as the rest of the house in the cold, making it perfect for a large family Christmas.

The conservatory now never goes above 24 degrees, keeping it nice and cool for children to play in during the summer.

A soundproof barrier now keeps the conservatory free from external noise, making it perfect for quiet relaxation, whatever the weather.

The new solid roof completely removes glare, while a white plaster or cladded ceiling still keeps the room bright for activities such as reading.

The Comfortable Tiled Conservatory Roof requires almost no maintenance allowing you to enjoy your conservatory with minimal effort.

Based On Your Score, Your Comfortable Prescription

0-24 Your conservatory is exhibiting little to no issues. It's possible that you already have one of our many options. If not, however, there's no harm in making a long term investment now to protect your conservatory in the future.

25-49 Your conservatory is starting to show it's flaws. We'd recommend looking into our insulated ceiling options. The insulated ceiling is a low cost, efficient solution to many common issues with existing conservatories.

50-74 Your conservatory is fairly problematic but we believe that a Comfortable Tiled Conservatory Roof will solve all of your problems. Our bespoke roofs fit on almost any existing conservatory and enhance it in countless ways.

75+ Your conservatory is barely usable, or possibly not usable at all, but we have the perfect solution. A full upgrade will strip your conservatory down to the base brickwork and replace all the frames, the roof, doors, and sealed units, making the structure as good as new.

#Snapjustice knows everyone has got an excuse and they all stink. One H&P reader sent in this picture of a security van parked across the pavement in Kingsley Park Terrace, Northampton.

A vacant parking space can be seen to the right of the picture, although the driver decided to take the more direct option, forcing pedestrians to walk around it. You can send your Snapjustice

Editor's Letter

At last something we can all agree on – politics needs saving

It's referendum day. Let me just reunite the nation with one thing we probably have learned from the Euro debate that we can all agree on.

Politics needs to change. I reckon there have been no more than half a dozen salient facts being kicked around in the media for the past few months.

The quality of the argument as a whole has been poor. I think it's because in this country we have a tendency to turn everything into a sport from law making to court cases to kicking pigs bladders around the village green.

One side has a go, the other has a go, someone decides who has won. As long as there is a process that is recognisably something like that it's fair enough.

It's not a forensic examination of the facts. Where's the sport in that?

Facts are for pulling out of the bag during a debate like concealed weapons.

"Stick em up, I have a fact, I'll use it if I have to..."

"That's not a fact, that's your finger..." I could take some blame and say the

You can blame the media but ultimately we point our cameras at what is there media has a part to play but that's a bit too easy. Ultimately, we point our cameras at what is there. Politicians play sound bite tennis because the noise of their shots echoes back at them in a reassuring way when its on the news bulletins. They feel like they are being heard. It looks convincingly like the sport of politics.

But take a step back. Forget about the arguments for a moment. The elephant in the room in domestic UK politics is the feeble participation in elections. Everyone must vote. We must start taking it seriously. It should be illegal not to vote but it should also be easier - not because it's too complicated now but because there should be a benefit from advances in technology.

There should be a voting app that notifies you when its time to vote. If we can bank from our phones we can vote from our phones. And if they can canvas our opinions that quickly, there would be no excuses and the people would be much more in charge. Who knows what would happen then...

A de-ciderly delicious pint

BY LAWRENCE JOHN

lawrence.john@hpnorthants.co.uk

A new invention which 'looks like the side of a shed' but uses the latest gadgets to pour real cider at a record rate will be unveiled at this weekend's Northampton Sausage and Cider Festival.

The contraptions allow one person to pour up to 480 pints an hour and were specially commissioned by event organiser Crispin Slee, who is now the proud owner of four of the machines.

He said: "We wanted a device which poured real cider, from a bag-in-box, cold and fast but there was nothing available on the market. So we had these machines especially designed and built."

"Each one looks like the side of a shed and has 15 taps on the front. Concealed behind the wooden façade are 15 electric pumps and two fast-chill remote coolers.

Pulling power: One of the cider pouring machines

"Now, we can serve cider fast and cold and as far as we know, there is nothing else like them in the world."

The Sausage and Cider Festival takes place at Old Scouts RFC this weekend on Saturday from noon to 10pm and Sunday from noon to 6pm. Adults tickets are £5 and child tickets £3. Sunday is a family day when kids go free.

There is live music, a free family circus, trampolines and lots of inflatable fun.

The festival raises money for grassroots sport in Northampton and part of the profits go to Old Scouts RFC.

Razor in county for England games

A former Liverpool footballer has been in Northamptonshire for the past week carrying out some promotional work - while also taking time to watch England's Euro 2016 matches.

Neil 'Razor' Ruddock (pictured) was at the home of Northants County Cricket Club last Thursday to watch England take on Wales, in a game which they won 2-1. He was joined by staff at Franks Hamburger House - a Northampton-based eatery which he has been making promotional videos for.

Razor then watched England's match versus Slovakia on Monday at Vicarage Farm Social Club in Wellingborough, where the Three Lions drew 0-0, making it to the last 16.

Eddie's message of hope for EU

Reporter Lawrence John spoke to Eddie Izzard about the EU vote when he visited the county

Comedian Eddie Izzard has admitted going around the country doing speeches to stay in the EU has meant using a different mental energy.

He has done 31 speeches in 31 days and said he felt it has been tougher than when he did 27 marathons in 27 days.

Last week Eddie was at Corby Business Academy where he spoke to sixth formers about why he felt they should vote to stay in Europe.

The comic, who wants to become an MP or the Mayor of London by 2020, said he has enjoyed the opportunity to speak to young voters about what he feels is one of the most important decisions in 100 years - whether Great Britain should remain in or leave the EU.

Eddie, who came out as transgender more than 30 years ago, wants to preach a positive message to young voters as he feels Europe provides people with opportunities which if we left the EU would vanish over night. This, according to Eddie, is the freedom to travel thanks to cheap flights, the ability to study anywhere in Europe and the chance to work in different countries.

He does not want us to become a Little Britain but would like to see us be part of a cosmopolitan European culture.

When he addressed the sixth formers he did so with a passion for the EU and kept reiterating what he felt was the hope it and humanity gave people.

He said: "I feel Europe is all about support and opportunity. It is about stopping wars and keeping the peace."

"Young people want a positive message and that is what I do, I am a British-European. I am proud to be British and I am proud to be a European. I am a realistic idealist. I had tough times admitting I was transgender but I feel with Europe we need to keep pushing the message of hope."

"Despair was the fuel of terrorists while hope was the fuel of civilization. I believe in hope and I do not have a problem with that. I want to do good for humanity. We need to change the EU but from the inside not outside it.

"We need to remain in Europe."

He explained he has been enthused by young people speaking to him after the speeches telling him how much they enjoyed his positive message. Listening to Eddie's style of delivery and his speech, I felt it was erudite, educated and charged with positivity.

He did have buzzwords through his speech like hope and humanity along with idealist and positive.

This was Eddie Izzard the comedian but he never allowed his speech to become overlaid with humorous stories or jokes.

How many changed their minds from listening I do not know. But today we all get our say on the EU.

Town to play part in EU referendum

BY NICHOLAS BIEBER
nicholas.bieber@hpnorthants.co.uk

The Northamptonshire town of Kettering will become one of 12 regional centres across Britain tonight which will announce the EU referendum results of all the areas in the region.

Kettering Conference Centre will co-ordinate the result of the East Midlands after polls close at 10pm tonight and 40 local centres in the region count and announce their own results.

All these numbers will then be fed to Kettering and collated. The region's result will then be announced and added to the rolling total for the UK - alongside the numbers from the 11 other regional centres.

At around breakfast time tomorrow the final result for the whole of Britain will be announced in Manchester.

Northampton will hold its own count at Lings Forum Leisure Centre and is expected to announce its result sometime between 5am and 6am.

Wellingborough's count at Redwell Leisure Centre will have a result at around 3am, and Kettering's - also in the Conference Centre - should be at 2am.

At 4am the results are expected for the counts of Corby at Lodge Park Sports Centre, Daventry at Daventry Leisure Centre, East Northants at Rushden's Pemberton Centre and South Northants at Towcester Centre for Leisure.

Cloudy2Clear Announce Trusted Trader Partnership

Consumer champions Which? have now joined the thousands of customers who recognise that Cloudy2Clear Windows really are a business that you can TRUST. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes - not the frames has received the coveted 'Which Trusted Trader' status after going through a rigorous accreditation process entirely focussed on customer service.

Group Managing Director Marcus McGee believes that Which? have endorsed Cloudy2Clear's long standing company policy of delivering the highest standards possible at all times. 'Our service is simple. If your double glazing has misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 25 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Whilst a number of tradespeople perhaps don't focus on customer care as much as they should do, we make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle.'

Locally Cloudy2Clear service the Northampton, Kettering, Wellingborough

& Corby areas and manager Trevor Skidmore agrees that this approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated as both my customers and, obviously a body as nationally important as Which? now recognise.'

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Trevor a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

HORROR: One-year-old Rainbow and inset, with mum Simone Jones after the incident

Baby burnt by washing tablet

BY NICHOLAS BIEBER
nicholas.bieber@hpnorthants.co.uk

A mum feared her baby girl would go blind after a washing machine capsule burst in her face - resulting in horrific burns.

Mum-of-two Simone Jones, from Irthlingborough, said one-year-old daughter Rainbow 'screamed the most horrific scream ever' after the tablet popped and sprayed into both her eyes.

The 27-year-old beauty therapist said the accident happened when she turned her back for a few seconds while serving up dinner and Rainbow managed to reach inside a child-locked cupboard.

After pulling a single washing tablet through a small gap in the cupboard at their family home, it quickly popped and the liquid spread over the little girl's eyes and face.

Simone, who has knowledge of first aid from previous employment as an assistant at a care home, then frantically tried to wash the liquid from Rainbow's eyes before rushing her to Kettering General Hospital.

But despite the doctors cleaning her eyes further, they told Simone that Rainbow had 95 per cent burns to the cornea in her left eye - after the protective layer was stripped off - and five per cent to the right.

But to the mum's joy, a further check-up on Monday found that Rainbow's eyes had recovered and that there is no long lasting damage.

Simone, who also has a three-year-old son called Phoenix, said: "When I heard the pop and saw her face, I felt sick to my stomach."

"I am so relieved she is going to be okay now."

Lifeline for mobility scooter service

Northampton Shopmobility could be saved following a crunch meeting - just weeks after another cut to funding forced it to announce it was closing down later this year.

The mobility scooter hire service, which rents out scooters for £3 a use, revealed earlier this month that it would be closing on September 30 after its grant from Northampton Borough Council was slashed from £11,000 to £8,000.

The news sparked a public outcry as campaigners urged the council to sell the mayor's number plate - worth £300,000 - to help save the service which is based at Mayorhold car park.

But on Tuesday the borough council's Disabled

People's Forum held a special meeting in which a solution was found to make up the funding gap and keep the service going until at least March next year.

The council said in the meeting it had been helping the service, which is run by Northampton Door to Door, to find new funding streams

- which has resulted in applications being submitted for £3,000 from the authority's small grants fund and £10,000 from the Northants Community Foundation.

A council spokesperson said: "The council already supports the Shopmobility scheme, who received £8,000 from our Partnership Fund Grant Scheme this year."

"We always have difficult decisions to make as we look at how our grants can best help people in Northampton."

"Ever year the bidding process is oversubscribed and unfortunately no funding is guaranteed but is subject to a competitive bidding process."

Hi tech college is in sport fast lane

BY LAWRENCE JOHN
lawrence.john@hpnorthants.co.uk

The National College for Motorsport will be opening a brand new purpose built £1.5m facility based at the heart of British Motorsport Racing at Silverstone in September.

This is all part of plans to increase the specialist skills training available to an additional 240 students by 2021.

The National College for Motorsport, run by Tresham College of Further and Higher Education, currently trains full time students and apprentices from across the UK to train for a career in motorsport and high performance engineering at one of the UK's most prestigious venues.

Past students have gone on to work with a range of motorsport champions across the world including Formula One teams Lotus, Red Bull, Force India, Manor and Mercedes where they lead teams to prepare cars in the workshop and work at the race track during races and testing.

The new £1.5m facility being developed by property manager MEPC is at Silverstone Park – the high-tech engineering business estate located next to Silverstone circuit.

The 7500 sq. ft. facility will consist of two fully equipped workshops and classrooms and has been designed by GSS Architecture to ensure that the space is suitable to combine the practical and theoretical training of full time students and apprentices in the motorsport industry.

Kier Construction began working on the brand new site, built by Silverstone Parks, in May to ensure that the new premises will be ready to open in September.

David Higham, vice principal at Tresham, said: "We are really pleased to be able to expand our motorsport training provision so we can welcome additional full time students and apprentices from across the world to benefit from the specialist training."

US company to set up European HQ in county

A Californian-based company which aims to transform the lowly 'trash can' - or as it's known in the UK, rubbish bin - into objet d'art is setting up its European headquarters in Northants.

simplehuman, founded in 2000 in Los Angeles, has agreed with regional developer Hampton Book to rent a new 103,000 sq ft logistics and distribution warehouse off the A14, near Thrapston.

The soon-to-be completed warehouse - known as Thrapston 103 and sits near the Primark warehouse - will become the US company's European distribution centre for a term of 10 years.

The company, which was set up with the aim of making it easier and more efficient to 'take out the trash' - designs and manufactures kitchen, bath and beauty tools.

MUST HAVE

Pen and paper

Northampton poet James McInerney must have a 'pen and paper'.

He said: "My 'must have' is something very primitive in this technological age. I cannot do without pen and paper. As a poet having a blank canvas on hand so that I can fill it with colourful words is essential. My mind is always thinking of new lines for future poems and, having a bad memory, if I don't write it down it could be lost forever."

BLOGGER OF THE WEEK A tragedy in Orlando

Cllr Zoe Smith

This week's Blogger of the Week is Cllr Zoe Smith (Labour) who represents the Abington Ward on Northampton Borough Council

This has been a week of mixed emotions for Northampton's LGBT - Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual and Transgender community.

First we were celebrating the news that one of our own, Matt Toresen, has been awarded an MBE for his work around LGBT issues.

And then we had the tragedy in Orlando.

This tragedy has pointed up for us in Northampton the importance of the work done by Matt and his colleagues to highlight LGBT issues.

They have helped to bring the issues centre stage, to develop support networks for LGBT people, and to develop the fantastic Straight Allies movement.

It has also highlighted how when tragedies occur, there is a too easy speculation about causes, and there is a blame game.

But it's so important to get to the heart of the matter.

We need to increase our understanding in order to prevent further tragedies.

From this side of the pond it's obvious that the American constitutional right for people to bear arms is having terrible consequences.

Something needs to be done to address that.

This particular tragedy seems to have involved an individual, a man conflicted about his sexuality, a man full of anger, a man with access to guns. What can we do?

We need to challenge the Islamophobia that gets peddled every time something happens that involves a Muslim.

We need to stand shoulder to shoulder in solidarity with the Orlando LGBT community and their families.

Above all we need to continue to support the work that Matt is doing in our town to make Northampton the best, the safest, the most welcoming town for LGBT people.

What do you think?

Tributes to Jo Cox

Politicians from across Northants - as well as a cricketer and police chief - have expressed their sadness and paid tribute to Yorkshire MP Jo Cox (pictured) - who died after an attack last Thursday.

The 41-year-old Labour MP for Batley and Spen was shot and stabbed in a horrific incident in Birstall, West Yorkshire, in the afternoon as she left a constituency advice surgery. A 52-year-old man has been charged.

Here are a list of tributes from high profile people in the county following the news of the MP's death:

DAVID MACKINTOSH, MP FOR NORTHAMPTON SOUTH:

Devastated to hear Jo Cox has passed away. I last saw her yesterday and we talked about our campaign to end homelessness. RIP my friend.

Remembered that Jo and I walked together from House of Commons to watch The Queen's Speech last month and she was full of great ideas #RIP

MICHAEL ELLIS, MP FOR NORTHAMPTON NORTH:

I am horrified to hear of the shocking and senseless death of Jo Cox.

My thoughts and prayers are with her family.

ANDREA LEADSOM, MP FOR SOUTH NORTHANTS:

Utterly terrible loss of Jo Cox. Unbearable for her family - all our thoughts and prayers are with you.

DANIELLE STONE, LEADER OF THE LABOUR GROUP ON NORTHAMPTON BOROUGH COUNCIL:

So shocked to hear of the brutal murder of Jo Cox MP. We will all be in mourning with her family.

ALEX WAKLEY, NORTHANTS CRICKET PLAYER:

We live in a very messed up world. Thoughts go out to all Jo Cox's family.

SIMON EDENS, CHIEF CONSTABLE OF NORTHANTS POLICE:

Our thoughts @NorthantsPolice are with the family and friends of Jo Cox MP who was killed today (Thursday, June 16) #RIP

Uni praised by UNICEF

TOP NOTCH: The University of Northampton's midwifery course has been commended

BY LAWRENCE JOHN

lawrence.john@hpnorthants.co.uk

UNICEF has praised the midwifery course at the University of Northampton.

The facility's pre-registration midwifery programme received full accreditation from The Baby Friendly Initiative.

To date it is one of only 18 university midwifery programmes in the UK to achieve such recognition.

The UK Baby Friendly Initiative is a worldwide accreditation programme of UNICEF and the World Health Organization.

The standards are aimed at midwifery and health nurse education courses, and were developed to ensure that newly qualified midwives and health visitors are equipped with the knowledge and skills they need to effectively support infant feeding and parent-infant relationships.

Tracey Barnfather, principal lecturer for midwifery at the University of Northampton, said: "The curriculum we have developed here at the University of Northampton demonstrates unique approaches to teaching students breastfeeding skills and management.

"Mothers and babies will receive better care as a result of this work."

The university's UNICEF accreditation took place over two stages.

REMEMBERED: The vigil was held at The Boston, Northampton

LOSS: Iain MacLeod's friend died following the Orlando shootings

Shooting victims and MP honoured

BY NICHOLAS BIEBER
nicholas.bieber@hpnorthants.co.uk

More than 200 people packed into a gay bar to pay tribute to the 49 victims who died in a shooting at an Orlando nightclub, and to remember Yorkshire MP Jo Cox who died after being shot and stabbed in a street.

Dozens of mourners gathered inside The Boston in Northampton town centre on Friday for the event, which had originally been set up by Northants Momentum to remember those who died in the massacre at Pulse nightclub in Orlando on Sunday, June 12.

But after the tragic murder of Jo, the Labour MP for Batley and Spen who died after being shot and stabbed in a street in her constituency last Thursday, the activism group decided the planned vigil would also be a tribute to her.

The evening of solidarity started with speeches - one of which was carried out by a Northampton man who lost a friend in the Orlando shootings.

Iain MacLeod, 32, of Far Cotton, told how he first met Edward Sotomayor Jr last year on a 'gay cruise' around Europe which was organised by a travel agency where Edward was brand manager.

They had both exchanged messages on social media since meeting, but Iain told the mourners at The Boston how he was left feeling 'numb' after reading a BBC News article about the Orlando massacre victims and finding Edward's name in it. He had been shot and later died in hospital.

"Numb is the only word I could use to describe how I felt," Iain told the Northants Herald & Post. "It just didn't sink in straight away. It was words on a page."

Following the speeches, a minute's silence was held - before everyone was invited to light a candle and write tributes on cards.

The event lasted over an hour and was attended by several police officers who throughout the vigil joined the mourners in applauding the speeches and joining in the minute's silence.

The case of .bacon butties on the way to the moon

Lawrence John

To find more blogs and video diaries from Northants Herald & Post journalist Lawrence John visit our website.
@LawrenceJohnHP

The earth at its greatest distance is 252,088 miles away from the moon, and at its least 225,263 miles away.

I mention this just in case any of you are thinking of space travel and heading off to the moon.

I don't think you can just pop 'the moon' in as a destination into your sat nav and bingo, bongo boo you arrive with a voice telling you in 150 yards turn left and your destination is on your right.

We are all separated by things in life either by miles, kilometres, years, months, weeks, days or hours. But in one great parlour game we can work out a number of people are separated from Kevin Bacon by six degrees.

Six degrees of Kevin Bacon is based on the six degrees of separation concept which points out any two people on earth are six or fewer acquaintance links apart. In the Bacon game, the challenge is to pick an actor or actress and link them to Kevin Bacon in six moves or less.

If you were heading to the moon what would you watch? I would say boxsets. They are the most reliable form of entertainment as they deliver all you want in huge doses of television fun which you control.

The slogan should read: 'Get your fix everyday from six'. I have indulged in boxsets. At the moment I am enjoying catching up with all of Peep Show.

For Mad Men I soaked it all up in about three weeks. But a cautious warning dear viewer, I had to digest episode after episode night after night. No slacking here boys, this was dedication beyond the call of duty.

The faster you watch, the faster the next episode can be served up... do you want fries with that?

Maybe you should have a bacon sandwich cooked in less than six moves and you really would feel sated with a great taste sensation. Vegetarian options are available. The bacon sandwich is the astronauts' choice - the choice of champions. Space fuel for space cowboys, space cowgirls and space cadets.

To boldly go where no man has gone before without a bacon sandwich? I don't think so.

A wheelie good

nicholas.bieber@hpnorthants.co.uk

Thousands of spectators lined the streets of towns and villages right across the county on Sunday as the final stage of the Aviva Women's Tour rolled through the area.

Cycling fever swept Northamptonshire as the fifth stage of the biggest women's cycle race in the world left a sun-soaked Guildhall Road in Northampton town centre at 10.45am.

The 113.2km route saw 96 cyclists in 16 teams from around the world whizz past cheering crowds in Bugbrooke, Daventry, Guilsborough, Naseby, Desborough and Rothwell.

And bang on time at around 2pm, a tight pack of leaders provided a dramatic finale as Finnish Road Race champion Lotta Lepisto - riding for Cervélo-Bigla, crossed the finish line at a time of two hours and 57 minutes.

But the overall winner of the tour - and the proud bearer of the yellow jersey - was British rider Lizzie Armitstead, riding for Boels Dolmans, while local sisters Hannah and Alice Barnes finished 22nd and 12th respectively.

The leader of Northamptonshire

Council, Cllr Heather Smith, watched the cyclists cross the finish line in Kettering and described the moment as 'emotional'.

She added: "This is the third year that we've been lucky enough to host a stage of the race and I really believe that this year has been the best yet."

"It's wonderful to see the thousands of people lining the streets to cheer on the riders and it creates a fantastic sense of excitement."

"I'd like to say a huge thank you to the race organisers SweetSpot for yet another phenomenal Women's Tour

CHEER: Families were among those lining the streets to watch the action and to all of our sponsors and partners for helping to make the day a success.

"Cycling really is on the up at the moment and I hope people will feel inspired by these world-class athletes to get on their bikes and enjoy cycling for themselves."

After the race left Northampton town centre in the morning, hundreds of people were treated to a range of activities in Kettering town centre as they awaited the finish.

People could try out bikes powered by a scalextric track, as well as bicycles which make smoothies and play music.

Meanwhile, stalls selling merchandise and cycling equipment and table tennis provided fun aplenty for others while free goodies were handed out by different organisations.

People are still being encouraged, especially if they were inspired by the event, to take part in the Sportive next month which will allow amateur cyclists to ride the same route as the Women's Tour.

H&P Editor Steve Scoles on his quest for fitness and health helped by Trilogy Gym

Back in the days when I used to participate at Northampton Fencing Club I would find myself talking a sporty work colleague about the ins and outs of it.

His name was Mike and his game was tennis but we would often remark on the unexpected similarities between the games: one on one, picking angles of attack, moving your opponent about to open up scoring opportunities.

I had never seen myself as a tennis player but our conversations did make me think.

A new summer tennis programme aimed at men who might have lost touch with the game in their 20s and 30s is giving us the chance to get some proper coaching and get involved again.

Advantage Tennis happens on Thursday evenings at Abington Park in Northampton for £5 per 90 minute session, starting at 6pm.

Rob Dearing, Head of Participation at the LTA says: "These weekly training sessions are 'pay as you go', so easily fit into busy lifestyles.

"It's a great way to de-stress after a hectic day and the perfect way to meet new people to play against".

'We need to stop this child abuse'

Reporter Lawrence John finds out what Northamptonshire is doing to stop FGM - Female Genital Mutilation

DIFFICULT ISSUE:
Abade Ahmed of Men Standing Up
Against FGM

Thirty cases of Female Genital Mutilation (FGM) were discovered by Northampton General Hospital last year, it has been revealed.

Women who had been victims of the practice, common across many African cultures, were finding that it was causing complications in childbirth years after the original abuse took place.

And now a group of medical and law enforcement specialists in the county have created a team to tackle the problem and to get the message out that FGM is child abuse, it is illegal and will not be tolerated.

The multi-agency campaign is being funded by Northamptonshire Police which is aware there were at least 18 cases in which girls aged between five and 14 years old were at risk of having this procedure carried out.

Indeed there were 30 new cases of FGM identified by Northampton General Hospital (NGH) alone during the period of September 2014-March 2015.

FGM is part of the culture in countries in Northern Africa across to the Horn of Africa. Chairwoman of the FGM Subgroup, Emma Hildreth, explained: "FGM is child abuse and it is illegal. It is a violation of human rights and of a girl's rights."

"It is a violent act carried out using a razor or a home made sharpened instrument and there is no anaesthetic used. The victim is held down and in some cases their legs are bound together."

"There are long term dangers such as chronic pain, psychological trauma and difficulty giving birth."

"Why does this happen? It is all part of upholding the family honour and protecting girls."

"It is meant to keep her clean and protect her from the dangers of life before marriage."

"It is not a religious act as there are no documents talking about FGM."

"FGM is child abuse and we need to stop it happening."

Giving a police perspective on the issue of FGM, Detective Superintendent Steve Lingley said it is now mandatory for anyone who has suspicions a child is at risk to report their concerns.

He said: "We have spoken with the child protection team and are working in partnership to protect children from harm."

"We need to have early intervention and we have dealt with 18 cases in the last year where girls were at risk."

"This campaign is the opportunity to make people aware of the dangers and beyond that the immediate and physical and mental issues."

Consultant obstetrician at NGH Sara Dexter said: "We see some women who cannot cope with child birth because of what has happened. We have to cut them so they have a Caesarean Section. All this does is give them flashbacks to what has happened before."

"The first time they were with people they thought they could trust they had FGM and now they are with health professionals and are being cut again."

"Childbirth is painful enough but having more pain due to FGM must be horrifying." One of the men in Northampton who is getting involved is Abade Ahmed. He is part of Men Standing Up Against FGM.

He said: "It is a difficult issue for many people to talk about."

"This is something which is carried out by women on women for men. And men need to stand up and say this is wrong."

"This is not a religious issue and it is not in Islam, Christianity or Judaism."

If you think a child is at risk from FGM call 0300 126 1000, call the police on 101 or in an emergency call 999.

Family's tribute to murder victim

BY NICHOLAS BIEBER

nicholas.bieber@hpnorthants.co.uk

The family of a man who was found in his flat after being stabbed to death have released a short statement describing him as 'generous to a fault'.

David Miller, 56, was found dead at his home in Patterdale Walk, Boothville, Northampton, by police officers in the early hours of the morning on Tuesday, June 14.

His family released a statement saying: "David, a much loved brother; he was permanently a very kind and loving person, generous to a fault."

"He will be sadly missed by his family."

Four people remain in custody having appeared at Northampton Crown Court last week charged with the murder of Mr Miller. No bail applications were made.

Joseph Catlin, 30, Michael Hallett, 37, Ian Cuthbertson, 49 and Zena Kane, 35, all of no fixed address, are set to next appear in court on September 5.

Detective Inspector Phil

MISSED: David Miller and police outside flats in Patterdale Walk

Mills, leading the investigation, said: "While there have been a number of developments in the case, including a series of arrests and charges, I still want to appeal to the public or anyone who knew David to come forward with any information they have."

"We are still keen to speak to anyone who was in the area of Patterdale Walk or Oasis House in Campbell Street, Northampton town centre, between Friday (June 10) evening and Monday (June 13).

"A scene guard remains at Patterdale Walk where specialist forensic officers continue to investigate."

Anyone with information is asked to contact police on 101 or Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

Quit call as effort to stop plant fails

BY NICHOLAS BIEBER
 nicholas.bieber@npnorthants.co.uk

The chairman of a residents' group has accused a council chairman of trying to 'brazenly dismiss' residents concerns over plans for a power plant in Northampton, and is now calling on him to resign.

A motion was submitted by a councillor on behalf of St James Residents' Association (SJRA) at the full Northamptonshire County Council (NCC) meeting last week, which asked for the developer of the £160 million energy centre, Rolton Kilbride, to hold the referendum.

But when a vote was carried out - after it is claimed the council chairman and former leader of the authority, Councillor Jim Harker, allegedly tried to 'dismiss' it - the motion was thrown out.

The current leader of the authority, Councillor Heather Smith, had said that agreeing the motion would put the council in a difficult position 'legally'.

However, SJRA chairman, Graham Croucher, says he

and other residents feel 'very let down and disappointed' by the decision, and fears the move will 'confirm to many that it's already a done deal between the developer and council'.

A statement by the group said: "The feeling that has been generated now is one that sees the county council losing all trust between itself and the people who they are supposed to serve, and that the decision was borne out of a vested interest of the county council, and will confirm to many, whom already hold the view, that it's already a done deal between the developer and NCC."

The residents' group claims that during the meeting last Thursday, when the motion was submitted by Councillor Gareth Eales, Cllr Harker made 'two attempts' to 'dismiss' it.

The statement claimed he 'clearly tried to move to the next item of business' when it was time to vote on the motion.

Mr Croucher said: "The chair obviously still thinks he is leader of the council.

"The brazen attempts by Cllr Harker to dismiss the legally and morally correct motion, and his procedural ineptitude suggest to me that he is far from independent on this matter, and I call for his resignation."

We asked NCC for a comment but got no response in time for our print deadline.

Ninth music fest hits a high note

BY STEVE SCOLES

news@hpnorthants.co.uk

Northampton rocked and rolled all weekend to the sounds of the ninth annual music festival.

There were stages all over the town centre at venues such as The Department of Meat and Social Affairs, The Lamplighter, The Black Prince, The Charles Bradlaugh, The Thomas A Beckett, The Pickering Phipps and the NN Cafe.

The event is organised by Northampton Music 365.

Afterwards the organisers posted the following message on the NMF Facebook page: "Wow! What can we say Northampton? Once again you have excelled yourself. It was so incredible to see so many of you enjoying music on the streets of the Town Centre this weekend."

Jessica D'Aulero, chair of Northampton BID said: "A key part of the BID's work is to encourage more visitors into the town centre and to celebrate the different areas within it. This year we were absolutely thrilled to be the lead sponsor of the Northampton Music Festival once again."

"Not only did thousands of visitors have a fantastic weekend enjoying fabulous local musicians and singers, but businesses throughout the town centre got into the Festival spirit and really made the most of the extra crowds. Events like this really make Northampton town centre special."

PROPERTY TALK

>with NIGEL LEWIS

No butler required here, Jeeves?

COMIC writer PG Wodehouse never revealed the identity of the home of absent-minded Lord Emsworth, his siblings and a pig called the Empress of Blandings.

Blandings Castle – the fictional location where the Jeeves and Wooster creator set stories – inspired a BBC TV comedy series a few years back with Timothy Spall and Jennifer Saunders. However, it got mixed reviews with one critic sniping: "If you know the work, you'll have mourned what has been lost – the comic subtlety, the innocence and the air of lunatic irresponsibility surrounding Wodehouse at his best."

Although some fans still argue about its true location, it's now thought that Apley Hall, often visited by the author in his teenage years when his parents lived a few miles away in Bridgnorth, Shropshire, is the house in Wodehouse's novels. In 2003, two geographers at University College London claimed computer mapping technology pinpointed it as the real Blandings Castle, while locals believe the low walled enclosure at the western end of the stable courtyards at Apley was the Empress's home.

The Gothic Grade II* listed Hall was built in 1811 and run as a boarding school after the Second World War, before falling into disrepair and being restored by a property developer.

The Library House, a six-bedroom home there, is now on the market for £950,000. Set over three floors, it has three reception rooms, attic room, library, cellars, private garden and 15 acres of communal gardens. The dining room, a former chapel, is part oak-panelled with carved ceiling and mullioned window.

www.savills.co.uk, 01952 239500

How about this White House, Donald?

DONALD Trump looks likely to make a flying visit to his golf courses in Ireland and Scotland on the eve of the EU referendum.

The presumptive Republican nominee in the US presidential election will be at the Turnberry hotel on his golf course in south-west Scotland on 22 June for its official relaunch following a £200m redevelopment. The billionaire property developer won't visit the capital, but might be interested to know there's a house for sale there that could give him a taste for life in Washington's most illustrious address.

The Little White House at 4 Blackburne's Mews in Mayfair is in a private gated mews next to the American Embassy and inside its fortress-style security cordon. It's so-named because of its white façade, grand 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue style entrance hall and sweeping staircase.

In Victorian times, the American Embassy invited neighbouring residents to social bashes. And during the Kennedy and Johnson administrations in the 1960s, locals got to use the Embassy library and were invited to jazz concerts and art shows. However, the invites dried up and security tightened after 9-11. The US Embassy now plans to relocate to Nine Elms next year when the current building will become a 5-star hotel and luxury resort, while the Little White House will be up for grabs at £2.5m.

The mini-version has a large double reception room, ground floor formal dining room and large family kitchen/breakfast room with four bedroom suites. It's also got an integral garage and access to communal gardens.

Family decides to downsize after over 150 years

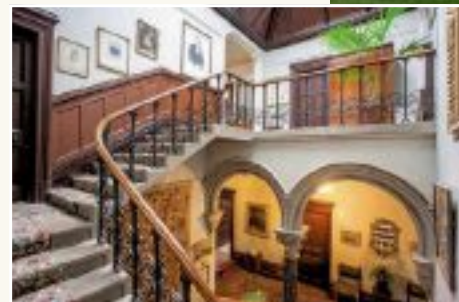

As house prices head ever skywards, more homeowners are staying put for longer.

A recent Hometrack survey revealed that the average time between home moves is as long as 28 years in some UK cities; while a typical house changed hands every 10 years in the 1980s, that's now risen to 21 years.

Other research from mortgage and loan broker Ocean Finance suggests that about 60% of us have lived in the same house for more than 15 years, while one in ten say they've not moved for 31 years or more.

That's a long time at one address, but this striking manor house is pretty unusual as it's been in the same family for more than 150 years. Built by Andrew Martell's ancestors who made their fortune from the lead mining industry, he and wife Shelagh have lived in the imposing gothic-style Shotley Hall in County Durham for 35 years.

The couple are now downsizing and have just put their grade-II* listed Victorian home on the market for £1.35m. It's got 11 bedrooms, four bathrooms, and three big reception rooms. Highlights include traditional feature fireplaces and ten stained glass windows – many created by acclaimed designer William Morris – which give views of the 3.3 acres of grounds.

Designed and built in 1863, the former butler's and maids' kitchens have been turned into a kitchen diner, while according to agent Savills, the former servants' wing would make a great granny flat.

HOT GOSSIP

This Brand new jail house rocks

BEFORE Russell Brand became a Hollywood star and a slightly more responsible father-to-be, he was infamous for stripping off at Piccadilly Circus during the May Day riots in 2001.

In what he later described as, "a combination of youthful idealism and personal exhibitionism", Brand got naked on the steps of the Eros statue at an anti-capitalist demonstration, which got him arrested by the Metropolitan Police - although charges were later dropped.

The loudmouth actor and activist was taken to the police station in London's Maida Vale - also where the manager of the Manic Street Preachers reported Rickey Edwards missing in 1995.

Built in 1911, you don't need to get nicked to see inside Harrow Road police station as it was shut in 2013 as part of Boris Johnson's plans to streamline the capital's police stations and has now been transformed into 25 apartments. More newly built flats behind the building are also part of the new Westbourne Place development.

Complete with period features such as high ceilings and original wooden bay windows, inside, the Grade II listed building's two original staircases have been restored, its Victorian brick façade has had a brush-up and the original 'Police' sign still sits in the entrance stone work.

A far cry from the previous accommodation behind bars, these new one, two and three bedroom apartments will set their law-abiding residents back from £550,000 to £990,000. They'll get to use a large courtyard outside while the flats also boast modern kitchens and 'hotel style' bathrooms.

www.redrow.co.uk, 0203 538 3791

Where the Stones were snapped

ANYONE going to 'Exhibitionism - The Rolling Stones' this summer will get an insight into how Mick and the boys lived back in the '60s, as it includes a tour around their first shared house.

Looking like a 'Young Ones' set, the one-bedroom flat in Edith Grove, shared by Mick Jagger, Brian Jones, Keith Richards and their friend James Phelge is recreated - complete with unwashed dishes in the sink - at London's Saatchi Gallery.

There's a treasure trove of music memorabilia at the retrospective, which charts the band's 50-year history, complete with diaries, stage costumes and never-seen-before photographs of the band, including snaps of them as children.

The Stones are probably the most photographed band on the planet, and one of those who frequently worked with them - a celebrated portrait photographer - used this property as his studio. The late 19th century building, which used to be a laundry, was originally converted in 1994 to create live/work spaces for artists and craftspeople.

Owned and used by a painter, it's a light, high-ceilinged property in London's Battersea, up for sale at £1.59m. It's divided between a light-filled double-height studio space and living accommodation with two bedrooms, bathroom and open-plan kitchen/dining/living room. This can be completely or partially closed off from the studio, while windows let you look in from the upstairs bedrooms. There's also a small courtyard garden at the back.

Agent The Modern House reckons the studio space could easily be converted into more bedrooms.

Brothers are breaking out on a Blues mission

BY LAWRENCE JOHN
lawrence.john@hpnorthants.co.uk

The legendary Chicago Blues Brothers are back at Royal & Derngate with their brand new action packed Jailbreak Tour, storming into Northampton tomorrow.

It was way back in 1978 that John Belushi and Dan Aykroyd (aka Joliet Jake Blues and Elwood J Blues) first unleashed the might that was to become The Blues Brothers on the NBC show Saturday Night Live coast to coast in the USA.

Little did Belushi and Aykroyd realise that they would initiate an abundance of folk wearing pork pie hats and dark glasses, all professing to be on a mission from God, and that they would soon become the ultimate ambassadors of the music they loved.

Somewhat mirroring the films, rock solid rhythm and blues have been the foundation of this theatre production, celebrating the music that has become so well-loved.

This non-stop revue is packed with more than two hours of the very best blues, Motown and soul music, from both of The Blues Brothers movies, including the hits Everybody Needs Somebody, Soul Man, Respect and Shake a Tail Feather.

The Chicago Blues Brothers will take to the stage at 7.30pm for an evening packed with music and laughs.

Tickets are priced £23.50 and £24.50 and can be booked by calling 01604 624811 or visiting www.royal-and-derngate.co.uk

Sometimes in life the truth can hurt. It hurts more than words as it is a fact, it is not sugar coated, it is the bitterest pill of all as it is the truth and it comes in its rawest form. This is true about the movie Concussion.

It is based on the true story of Dr Bennet Omalu who was the first to discover CTE - Chronic Traumatic Encephalopathy. This can be found in a number of contact sports, in this instance American Football.

The film tells the tale of how one man tried to take on the NFL. How he aimed to show professional players and college players the dangers they faced when they played the game and after they stopped.

It is a hard hitting film, which sheds a light on something which has and will continue to kill players and ex-players.

It is a well told story and Will Smith together with Alec Baldwin brings gravitas to the screen.

Concussion is out now on DVD.

Van drivers in dark on vote

BY IAN JOHNSON

VAN drivers are in the dark over which way to go when it comes to the EU in or out referendum, according to research by Mercedes-Benz.

A study carried out by the German car and van maker reveals that most drivers don't know enough about the EU referendum to make an informed choice.

A quarter of Brits who drive a van for a living said they don't feel confident enough in their knowledge to know how to vote, while nearly 30 per cent are unsure if Britain leaving the EU will have an impact on their business or the businesses they work for, meaning many of them are still unsure of which box to tick today.

According to Mercedes 58 per cent believe, to an extent, that the EU imposes too many rules on businesses, although a fifth (19 per cent) of van drivers flagged concerns that working hours in the UK will worsen if the UK were to vote to leave the EU, with 40 per cent concerned that it would be harder to trade with the rest of the UK.

Just over 40 per cent believe that Britain's status in the world would be damaged by leaving the EU, making the country 'less secure'. However, 46 per cent of van drivers felt the country would have greater control of its borders if the UK votes to leave, with 67 per cent wanting Britain to reduce the number of migrants coming to the UK to work anyway.

The study revealed that at this stage, 22 per cent of van drivers don't know whether they are going to vote to remain in, or leave the EU, while, a third confirmed they will vote to remain in, and 40 per cent said they'll vote to leave. Official figures from the Office for National Statistics (ONS) have shown that UK industry entered recession following two successive quarters of shrinking output. The ONS measured falls of 0.4 per cent in both the final quarter of 2015 and in the first three months of this year – a technical recession for the sector.

However, the ONS also measured growth of 0.3 per cent between February and March, highlighting further confusion for the public as to the state of the nation. Steve Bridge, managing director of Mercedes-Benz Vans

UK, said: "The nation's van drivers support the foundations of this country, so their unease in knowing which way to vote is a big indicator of the uncertainties facing the UK public as a whole."

"Our research highlights real concerns from van drivers, which needs to be addressed by both the Vote Leave and Stronger In campaigns."

"When you then factor in that the UK is in a 'technical' recession, but has also measured growth, it is no wonder that van drivers feel unsure of what to do for the best."

COVERCAR

SEAT Ateca

Take a look inside. . .

BY JON SMITH

SEAT may have been late to the SUV party but it looks likely to become one of the most popular guests.

Its new Ateca has all the credentials to challenge front runners such as Nissan Qashqai, Renault Kadjar and its own cousin, the VW Tiguan, in UK's fastest growing sector.

With a sporty image and priced to undercut the VW, the £17,990 to £29,990 SEAT range looks great in the flesh with sharp, racy styling and clean lines that should make it stand out.

A subtle family grille dominates the nose but it's nowhere near as aggressively-styled as say the Hyundai Tucson.

First models go out to customers in September although order books opened on June 1. Three diesel models and two petrol versions will be available.

The dash layout is clean and appears well laid out with switches and dials in easy reach. There's plenty of tactile, soft touch plastic but trim quality is a tad down on either Audi or VW, more on a par with Renault and Nissan.

Three trim levels are available but even the entry S versions have air conditioning and seven airbags as standard. The top model - the Xcellence - comes with leather upholstery, and LED headlights.

Climb aboard the Ateca and you first notice its roominess. There's loads of shoulder space, more in fact than in the Audi Q3. Rear seat passengers have ample headroom for six-footers and loads of legroom. The boot, too, is bigger than most rivals.

Get behind the wheel, and the Ateca has that familiar SEAT feel with eager and accessible performance and a minimum of fuss.

I first drove the 1.4TSI (£20,960 in SE form) which pushes out 148bhp and accelerates to 62mph in a nifty 8.5 seconds and then on to a maximum of 125mph. With light controls and a slick six speed manual gearbox it's easy and undemanding on twisty country roads or cruising down a motorway. The steering is a shade numb but that's not unusual with SUVs.

The TSI should prove cheap to run with CO2 emissions of just 125g/km and an official combined consumption of 52.3 mpg.

It's hard to under-estimate the importance to SEAT of the new model - it will offer loyal buyers of the marque a chance of remaining within the fold as their families and grow.

Maserati makes Quattroporte quicker By: Chris Russon

MASERATI is updating its flagship Quattroporte saloon with two new trims and some aerodynamic tweaks to make it even quicker. With changes to the nose including a more imposing grille fitted with an air shutter to reduce drag by up to 10 per cent, the V8 model – with its Ferrari-sourced 530hp V8 engine – now has a top speed approaching 195mph. The new models will be coming on stream in the summer and see the introduction of GranLusso and GranSport trims across the range which is now priced from £70,510 for the 3.0-litre Quattroporte V6 diesel to £115,980 for the 3.8-litre V8. Three-litre V6 petrol models cost from £82,750 – an increase of some £1,100. All of the new models now have matt black side skirts and redesigned door mirrors while inside the cabin has been updated with an 8.4-inch high definition touchscreen and a restyled centre console which incorporates a new phone storage area. Apple CarPlay and Android Auto smartphone mirroring functions are now included as part of the car's connectivity systems while adaptive cruise control, lane departure warnings and automatic emergency braking systems are among new options. So is a surround view camera. The new trims will be available on the V6 models priced from £78,910 for the diesel and £91,150 for the petrol Quattroporte and will be standard on the V8. GranLusso models have subtle spoilers front and rear with chrome detailing in the nose and sit on 20-inch alloys while inside they feature luxury appointments including silk fabric trim. The GranSport finish is designed to give the Quattroporte a more aggressive stance and it comes with 21-inch wheels, gloss black bumpers and red brake calipers. The interior features sports seats, stainless steel pedals and aluminium paddle shifters as well as piano black trim. There's also the option of a carbon pack for the body with coverings on the door mirrors, centre pillars, door handles and bumpers. While the engines and 0 to 60 acceleration times remain unchanged, the slipperier body styling moves the top speed of the diesel up to 157mph, the V6 petrol to 179 and the V8 to a maximum of 194mph.

JLR heads down to Rio By: Chris Russon

JAGUAR Land Rover has opened its first wholly-owned factory outside of the UK with a new £240 million production plant in Brazil to build the Range Rover Evoque and Land Rover Discovery Sport. The factory, which includes an education and business centre, is in Rio de Janeiro and will produce models for the Brazilian market where Land Rover already has a 33 per cent stake of the premium SUV market. Wolfgang Stadler, JLR's executive director for manufacturing, said: "The opening of Jaguar Land Rover's new world-class facility in Brazil marks the latest exciting milestone in our global expansion." "Land Rover is already Brazil's market-leader for mid-sized premium SUVs, accounting for more than 30% of all sales in that segment. The Range Rover Evoque and the Land Rover Discovery Sport will now be manufactured for the first time in Latin America, building on their existing popularity with customers in Brazil." The plant includes Jaguar Land Rover's first overseas Education Business Partnership Centre which will provide a range of classroom activities for up to 12,000 local children each year to will help them to develop key skills, work awareness and inspire them to pursue rewarding careers at Jaguar Land Rover. The factory, in Itatiaia, is the company's first wholly-owned overseas facility and marks a further phase in its global expansion strategy following the opening of its Chinese joint venture factory in 2014. Since 2010 JLR has invested more than £11 billion in new projects – including the opening of a new engine plant in Wolverhampton in the West Midlands – and now employs more than 38,000 people in the UK. The company, which is now the largest automotive manufacturer in Britain with factories at Solihull, Castle Bromwich in Birmingham and at Halewood on Merseyside, has seen sales double since 2009 and last year sold a record 487,065 vehicles worldwide.

ABARTH TURNS UP HEAT WITH NEW 595 By: Chris Russon

ITALIAN hot hatch specialist Abarth is putting even more sting in the tail of its latest model with a new 595 that's quicker and more affordable than before. The new Abarth 595 is priced from £15,090 with the line up topping out at £22,290 for a convertible in high performance Competizione trim. Three specifications are available, all powered by a 1.4-litre T-jet turbo engine with various amounts of boost taking power from 145 horsepower to 165 in the mid-range Turismo models and up to 180hp for the Competizione. Open top versions are available in all three grades and carry a £2,000 premium. The new Abarths have larger front air intakes for greater engine cooling, redesigned rear diffusers and sit on 17-inch lightweight alloy wheels which are designed to provide extra ventilation for the braking system. Inside, the cockpit of the 595 has also been updated with a flat-bottomed sports steering wheel which on the Competizione is carbon fibre and covered in Alcantara. Sports seats and colour-coded facias are also included and the new models have revised instrumentation as well as a Beats audio system and a touchscreen which is hooked up to the Uconnect Live information service. An upgraded version of the Uconnect set up is also available and includes Abarth Telemetry for gauging driving performance as well as preloaded points of interest for fans of the famous Scorpion badge marque. The Competizione, priced from £20,290, is a true enthusiast's model and comes with a Record Monza exhaust system and can also be fitted with a mechanical limited slip differential to enhance handling. Other specialist features include Koni shock absorbers and Brembo brakes to accommodate the 595 Competizione's 0 to 60 acceleration time of 6.7 seconds and 140mph maximum. A Sport mode has also been fitted across the line up which changes throttle response and steering feel as well as switching the instrument read outs to a 'racing' configuration. Despite the hot hatch credentials Abarth claims an official fuel return of 47mpg with emissions of 139g/km for all versions of the 595.

Fifteen body colours are now available including a vibrant Modena Yellow which Abarth had previously reserved for its flagship 695 Biposto Record – a model dubbed the world's smallest supercar. Personal touches can be added with a choice of three custom packs with Abarth side stickers, mirror caps and front and rear bumper inserts in white, black or red.

RACE-BRED MINI UP FOR THE CHALLENGE

By: Mike Torpey

A NEW race-bred MINI is about to hit UK streets as a strictly limited edition model. Called the MINI John Cooper Works Challenge, it is based on the fiery MINI JCW Hatch variant but adds some upgrades to make it more track focused. The Challenge bit refers to the racing series that has been running since 2002. And with that in mind the MINI development team in Oxford has worked with the racing car's key suppliers to ensure the newcomer 'delivers bespoke track performance to levels never before seen in the small hot hatch class'. Limited to a maximum of 100 cars, the model features a unique colour combination and graphics, genuine MINI JCW Pro Accessories, and is available in one fixed specification only with a tab of £32,000. The new special edition uses the latest MINI John Cooper Works Hatch as its basis – itself the most potent MINI ever produced – and is powered by a 2.0-litre twin turbo engine developing 231bhp. It uses a six-speed manual transmission, can scorch from 0-62mph in 6.3-seconds, has a top speed of 153mph, yet can return 42.2mpg with CO2 emissions of 155g/km. Bespoke styling includes enlarged air intakes at the front for increased cooling, contoured wheel arch extensions and a rear spoiler, while the cabin features John Cooper Works sports seats and sports steering wheel. Satisfied with the car's degree of power, the engineering team concentrated more on the Challenge model's chassis, tyres and braking. So the car is supplied with recommended settings for both road and track driving, the damper units offering adjustment through numerous 'clicks', though owners can choose to experiment with their own settings to tune the car to their own tastes. And it comes shod with 17-inch Michelin Pilot Sport Cup 2 tyres, original equipment for a host of high-performance cars, plus grooved and part-drilled 330mm front disc brakes with four-pot Brembo-developed calipers. The new John Cooper Works Challenge also uses the MINI JCW Pro Accessories like splitters and spoiler add-ons already available for John Cooper Works Hatch. Every Challenge model is painted in White Silver, can be readily identifiable by a bespoke graphics package, black roof and mirror caps and also has the alloy wheels finished in black.

NEW SKODA KODIAQ 'BEARS' ALL By: Mike Torpey

SKODA'S new SUV the Kodiaq is due to hit UK streets later this year and the Czech brand has released sketches that highlight exactly how appealing the newcomer will prove.

Design chief Jozef Kaban is the man behind the stylish looks, set off with a highly recessed shoulder line, sculptured rear section and long wheelbase.

Flat, raked headlights are positioned on both sides of a wide grille, their appearance paying homage to traditional Czech crystal glass art.

Skoda says the Kodiaq, named after the 3,500 Kodiak bears that live on a remote island off the southern coast of Alaska, will be available with two extra seats in the third row as an optional extra.

Otherwise the SUV will have the largest boot in its area of the new car market.

Kaban said: "The Skoda Kodiaq is a pioneer for our brand in two respects. We are entering a new segment with our first large SUV above the Yeti.

"And at the same time, the Kodiaq is the first model with the new Skoda SUV design language. It is powerful and emotive, but also timeless."

ASTON MARTIN DB11 TAKES TO THE HILL By: Mike Torpey

SUPERCAR fans will get the chance to see the stylish new Aston Martin DB11 up and running for the first time at next week's Goodwood Festival of Speed. The 600bhp, 5.2-litre twin-turbo V12 GT stunner will be on display in the Michelin Supercar Paddock during the Festival weekend and will be driven up Goodwood's 1.16-mile hillclimb by Aston Martin chief Andy Palmer. Aston will also give its Vantage GT8 – the lightest and most powerful V8-powered Vantage ever built – its first UK public runs at Goodwood, driven in a timed run category by the company's works driver Darren Turner. And a year on from its global unveiling at the Festival of Speed, Aston Martin's track-only supercar the Vulcan will be back to tackle the hillclimb, also with Turner behind the wheel. The £155,000 DB11 – the first product launched under the company's 'Second Century' plan – can also be seen as a static display at Goodwood as part of the Moving Motor Show. Alongside it will be the Rapide S model, which will also be available for visitors to experience along with the V12 Vantage S Coupe and Vanquish Volante. Meanwhile, the Vantage GT8 will be on display in the Supercar Paddock during the main Festival of Speed weekend. Inspired by the company's GTE race car programme, only 150 examples of the £165,000, 4.7-litre GT8 will be built and all have already been sold.

Public Notice for Northampton Herald

Public Notice from O H Parsons LLP solicitors
Contact: Ian Latimer on 0207 395 8593

Leading trade union law firm O H Parsons is looking for former colleagues of a Wellingborough man who died in 2015 aged 75 as a result of mesothelioma, a cancer caused by exposure to asbestos dust.

Brian Linnell was employed as an apprentice by The Express Lift Company Ltd on Weedon Road, Northampton from 1957 until 1962. After his apprenticeship he continued working for the company until 1965.

Ian Latimer, industrial disease specialist at O H Parsons, urges people to come forward as witnesses to assist in a compensation claim for Brian's widow and says anyone who worked with Brian Linnell may be able to help.

He says that "it is important that anyone who worked with Brian or even worked for The Express Lift Company at Weedon Road but did not know Brian personally provide any information they can about exposure to asbestos dust there".

Ian Latimer is interested in talking to anyone who was employed by Express Lifts in the 1950's or 1960's.

Anyone that can help should contact
Ian Latimer on 0207 395 8593.

Armitstead seals historic Tour victory in Kettering

WHAT A SIGHT: A field of 76 cyclists sweep through Deragate in Northampton as the 2016 Women's Tour had its final stage across the county

CYCLING

BY MATT WRIGHT
sport@snmedia.co.uk

Women's Tour winner Lizzie Armitstead felt that the course through Northamptonshire for the final stage suited the tactics of her team down to the ground.

While Armitstead finished down the field in 14th in the 113km stage that ran from Northampton to Kettering, none of the riders threatening her ambitions of taking the yellow jersey were able to finish ahead of her.

In the end, her aggregate time of 16 hours and 39 seconds was 11 seconds faster than that of second-placed South African Ashleigh Moolman-Pasio as she became the first British winner of the event.

The final stage was one that suited the sprinters, which meant that Armitstead's Boels Dolman teammates were able to help her over the line.

Armitstead said: "It was hard, but it was probably one of the easier days of the tour, as it was flatter than the previous stages."

"It meant that we could control it and bring it to a sprint, which is what we wanted to do."

It means that a fantastic team performance has been capped with a victory. There was quite a lot of pressure on us today and I couldn't let them down, really. I'm relieved and happy that I did it for them."

Thousands lined the streets throughout Northants on Sunday to cheer on the riders at the conclusion of the third edition of the Women's Tour, which has become a hugely prestigious event in its short existence.

When asked about the support, Armitstead said: "It's been great, it's been so enthusiastic. It fills me with pride to see families and kids and everybody screaming at us as we rode past."

They were really enthusiastic and really got behind it. That's what it's all about; inspiring people, particularly the kids on the other side of the road. I hope we gave them something to shoot at."

It's been a breakthrough year for Armitstead, who won her first-ever gold medal in a Road Cycling World Championship last year, when she headed up the women's road race.

Winning the Women's Tour is another boost for 27-year-old, who is looking to go one better on the silver she won at the 2012 Olympics in the road race during this summer's Games at Rio in August.

Armitstead said: "The last couple of years I've definitely improved my performances. Any bike ride you're in is about consistency in training and a bit of luck and I've had those for the last couple of years."

"With hard work, anything is possible, really."

Sunday also brought to an end a successful Tour for local riders Hannah and Alice Barnes, who were racing for Canyon-SRAM and Drops respectively, and there was very little to separate the sisters from Towcester.

In the end, finishing the final stage in 12th was enough for 20-year-old Alice to finish five seconds, and one place, ahead of her sibling, who is three years her senior, as they came home 26th and 27th.

Hannah said: "It was good to have everyone out there cheering. It's really cool hearing Lizzie's name everywhere – they definitely need to take this to Yorkshire next year I think."

"But it was nice to know the roads and see familiar faces around."

This tour was really difficult – stage one, two, three and four were really hard, going over some lumpy areas. It was good to do, but it was definitely a lot harder than last year."

ON A MISSION: Saints captain Tom Wood

Saints meandered last season says Wood

RUGBY UNION

Northampton Saints will have to get everything right from the start if they are put the disappointments of last season behind them, according to their new captain, Tom Wood.

The Saints players who are not currently on international duty returned for pre-season training last week with the determination that they must improve on last season's fifth-place finish.

A slow start to their Premiership campaign ended up costing Northampton dear, as they missed out on the play-offs for the first time in seven years and Wood doesn't want them to repeat the mistakes of last year.

He said: "I felt like we meandered a little bit last season, we never really got into our stride. We did lots of very good things, but we didn't have the consistency you need to win championships. I think there were a lot of frustrated players at the back end of last season. Animosity is the wrong word, there was just disappointment that we didn't fulfil our potential."

"That's something we've really tried to focus on. You can't just turn up at quarter finals and hope to win; you need to start now. If you're going to get it right, you need to put the foundations and that's everything from the standards you set in the gym, on the training field, the skills to the off-field stuff. You have to build all of that over a period of time."

"You can't just say 'right, we've got a final to win, let's go and do it'. It doesn't work like that – we saw that last year, it doesn't matter how talented your group is. We didn't have that cohesive unit we had in previous years to get the results last year."

NEW STOPPER: David Cornell is unveiled

Cornell in, Clarke out as goalkeeping back-up

COBBLERS

Change continued to come at pace for Northampton Town on Tuesday as the Cobblers signed goalkeeper David Cornell, while allowing fellow stopper Ryan Clarke to leave for AFC Wimbledon.

Cornell has signed on a two-year contract after leaving Oldham Athletic and will provide competition for Adam Smith under the tutelage of Town's new goalkeeping coach Paddy Kenny.

The 25-year-old came through Swansea City's academy and he was to make one appearance in their first team, in the League Cup against Scunthorpe in 2009.

He was to spend time on loan with Hereford United, St Mirren and Portsmouth before being released by Swansea in the summer of 2015, after which he signed for Oldham, where he played 17 times last season.

Northampton manager Rob Page said: "David is a good signing for us. He will come in to challenge and compete with Adam Smith and he has knowledge and experience of playing at this level."

"He has a good pedigree and I'm sure he will fit in well in the dressing room."

"I think he was unfortunate to have been released by Oldham but hopefully their loss can be our gain."

Clarke left the club by mutual consent to join Wimbledon, who, like the Cobblers, were promoted from League Two in the last campaign.

The 34-year-old signed from Oxford United last year, but was to only make four appearances in cup competitions.

"This is a move that makes a lot of sense for all parties," Page said. "At this stage of his career, Ryan wants and needs to be playing games and we fully respect that."

"Ryan had already had some conversations with Chris (Wilder) before the end of the season so I was fully aware of the situation when I came in, although I wanted to make sure we had an adequate replacement lined up before we allowed any move to proceed. Ryan's chances here were limited last season and so it makes sense to allow him to move on in search of regular first team football."

BY MATT WRIGHT

sport@snmedia.co.uk

Northampton Town's promotion from League Two last season meant there was that extra bit of anticipation ahead of the fixtures for the 2016/17 campaign being released.

Part of that was the prospect of facing old rivals Peterborough United for the first time since 2009 and bragging rights will be decided before November is out.

They'll be facing the Posh twice within the space of a month in the autumn as they head for London Road on Tuesday 18th October before they make the return journey on 19th November.

In another match of local interest, the Cobblers face MK Dons at home on 3rd September, while they'll be likely to take a huge following with them when they go to stadium-mk on 21st January.

Former manager Chris Wilder will bring his Sheffield United side to Sixfields on 8th April, while new boss Rob Page will be heading back to former club Port Vale on 10th December.

Golden year for the Fail twins continues at Alexandra Palace

BOXING

Ben Fail followed up on the recent successes of twin brother Carl as the Far Cotton ABC fighter won gold in the 76kg division at the Haringey Cup at Alexandra Palace last weekend.

Fail won all three of his fights on a unanimous decision to win the largest senior open boxing tournament in Europe, joining a roll of honour that includes Olympic champions Anthony Joshua and Nicola Adams.

The 19-year-old comfortably defeated Eastside's Nathan Cook in last Friday's quarter final, as he boxed at a pace that made sure he conserved energy for later in the competition.

He was up against Chavez

Campbell (Finchley) in the semi-finals and was to have too much for the tall Londoner, with his jab and upper cut consistently landing in a match he controlled from start to finish.

This brought him up against a powerful fighter from Sweden in the form of Ahmed Rossi and inside the opening minute of the final, a right jab, left upper combo forced his opponent to undergo a standing eight count.

Rossi survived the round and came out raging in the second, which meant Fail had to box sensibly but he went toe-to-toe, much to the delight of the crowd, in the third to make sure he secured gold and followed Carl's triumph in the Three Nations Championships.

Azhar on fire as Northants skittle Sussex

Muhammad Azharullah produced a magnificent display of bowling by taking six wickets on the opening day of Northamptonshire's County Championship match against Sussex yesterday.

After rain delayed the start at Arundel by three-and-a-half hours, Azharullah made up for lost time by ripping through the hosts, taking 6-68 to bowl them out for just 178.

Northants, who have given a debut to former Hampshire batsman Sean Terry, will be looking to capitalise on Azharullah's brilliance when they resume with the bat this morning.

The toss was uncontested, with Northants electing to field when play finally got underway at 2:30pm, but Sussex actually got themselves off to a fast start before they were to be left reeling by the Pakistani seamer.

He bowled Ed Joyce in the tenth over to break an opening stand of 41 before dismissing Luke Wells and Harry Finch off consecutive balls, with Sussex captain Luke Wright blocking his hat-trick delivery.

Wright, however, was to become Azharullah's fourth victim when he was trapped lbw for 14 and the 32-year-old was to complete his 15th five-wicket haul in first-class cricket by forcing Matt Machan to edge to Northants wicketkeeper David Murphy.

He was still on for all ten when 'keeper Ben Brown was caught behind, but another bowler eventually got in the act as Ben Sanderson took the wicket of Ollie Robinson.

Chris Nash held Sussex's innings together with a superb 75, but Richard Gleeson was to bring his knock to an end before the visitors polished off the hosts' tail.

The final wicket fell well into the evening session as Ajmal Shazad (20) was caught in the deep by Gleeson to give Rob Keogh his first wicket.

COBBLERS

BY MATT WRIGHT
sport@lsnmedia.co.uk

Northampton Town will begin their first League One campaign since 2008/09 with a home game against Fleetwood Town after the EFL announced their fixtures for the 2016/17 season yesterday.

Charlton Athletic will be their first away game the following week, meaning Town will be quickly reacquainted with attacker Ricky Holmes, who left for the Addicks last week.

The busy Christmas period begins with a Boxing Day trip to Oxford United, who the Cobblers finished 13 points clear of at the top of League Two last season.

The Cobblers will come up against former manager Chris Wilder on New Year's Eve when they travel to Sheffield United before they welcome Bradford City on Saturday 2nd January 2017.

Rob Page's first campaign as Northampton manager will finish with Gillingham visiting Sixfields on Sunday 30th April.
